this book is dedicated to the nascent discussion of the legal aspects of human exploration and possible settlement of mars and provides fresh insights and new ideas in two key areas the first one revolves around the broader aspects of current space law such as intellectual property rights in outer space the legal implications of contact with extra terrestrial intelligence legal considerations around the freedom of exploration and use and the international space station agreement as a precedent for mars the second one focuses on the creation and management of a new society on mars and includes topics such as human reproduction and childbirth the protection of human rights in privately funded settlements legal aspects of a martian power grid and criminal justice on the red planet with multiple national space agencies and commercial enterprises focusing on mars it is more than likely that a human presence will be established on the red planet in the coming decades while the foundation of international space law laid primarily by the outer space treaty remains the framework within which humans will engage with mars new and unforeseen challenges have arisen driven particularly by the rapid pace of technological advancement in recent years to ensure that space law can keep up with these developments a new scholarly work such as the present one is critical by bringing together a number of fresh international perspectives on the topic the book is of interest to all scholars and professionals working in the space field interest of historical geography is not limited to the locations of historical importance or places with many historical sites on the contrary areas of less historic importance often emerge as places of geographical interest in other words from a geographical perspective wherever human beings reside is worth studies and fieldworks human beings are living on the earth often oblivious to the grace in nature it is considered natural that regional studies focus on intangibles such as history politics and economy rather than nature or land regional studies revolve around specific historical events or leading persons while ignoring the life of everyday people how our forefathers expanded agricultural lands and conducted farming what kind of houses they built and how they established settlements were considered matters of no consequence this point of view stems from the ruling class which lacked the interest to keep records of the lives outside their class the lives of ordinary people being unable to write and keep records of themselves are hardly documented while written historical references are deficient vestiges of the common people s lives remain in the cultural landscape in the minds of people and their way of living it is not impossible to review regional characteristics based on various aspects of everyday lives of the people this book is one such study within the korean context
